STREET STORIES

The county attorney is getting ready for the grand jury, which convenes here next month.

The Carter county exhibit at the state fair this fall is going to surpass anything of the kind ever attempted. Carl Russell, county farm demonstrator, has already secured some of the finest samples of the products of the farm and garden ever shown here.

Take a trip out to the county fair grounds and see what is being done. It will be a revelation to many to see the magnitude of the buildings and the completeness of their fittings. The grounds are thronged nearly every afternoon at present.

Another demonstration this morning of the inefficiency of the present method of turning in fire alarms: The department received instructions to go northwest, when in reality the fire was consuming the barn of Joe Bastine, far to the northeast. As a result, Bastine loses a barn and contents.

Labor day will be generally observed in this city, although no special program has been arranged by the Trades Council. All places of business will be closed on that date, and no paper will be issued by The Ardmoreite.

The police department is making life miserable for that class of citizen registered at the police station under the name of "vax." Fourteen were rounded up last night who were existing without visible means of support, and as the city is doing considerable street grading at present, their services will no doubt be enlisted for at least ten days.

MORE TROOPS TO QUIT BORDER

WAR DEPARTMENT ORDERS FIFTEEN THOUSAND GUARDSMEN TO RETURN HOME.

FUNSTON PICKS THEM

First and Second Illinois Regiments Ordered to Vicinity of Chicago and Fifth California Regiment to State Mobilization Camp.

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 31.—General Funston today designated the first and second Illinois infantry among the national guardsmen to go north. They will probably be stationed near Chicago.

The fifth California regiment is ordered to return to the state mobilization camp.

Many Guardsmen to Leave.

Washington, Aug. 31.—In addition to the six thousand regular coast artillerymen ordered to leave the border yesterday and return to eastern posts, the war department has also ordered fifteen thousand state guardsmen to return. Thirteen regiments of the national guard are affected by this last order. Three regiments of the New York guard, two from New Jersey, two from Illinois, two from Missouri, one each from California, Louisiana, Maryland, Oregon and Washington are ordered to return home. The designation of the troops to be sent home is left to General Funston.

Mr. Galt's parents, Judge and Mrs. Galt, Miss Florence Galt, Mr. Freeman Galt, the Misses Hal Fraley, Anne Thompson, Elise Potterf, Messrs. Harley Harrell, Hume and Guy Price, will go to Lexington Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss Brady and their children, Abbott and Miss Eva, returned here yesterday from Dallas and will make Ardmore their home. They moved to Dallas some weeks ago with the intention of residing there, but Mr. Brady did not make a deal which he had prospects of and Mrs. Brady was too thoroughly devoted to Ardmore to be contented anywhere else. So they are here and there Ardmore friends appreciate their return. Before leaving here they leased their home for a year to Moss Patterson and until they get a home they will be with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Brady, at 421 A street, northwest.

Roy Brady was here yesterday from Poolville and he and his wife are planning to move back to Ardmore. The Brady store here will need the presence of these two young men and they will devote their time to the mercantile business with their father.

REPORTED THE KUMRIDS ARE PEEVED

THOSE WHO READ ARE THREATENING TO QUIT THE ARDMOREITE IF IT DOES NOT LET UP ON THEM.

"You tell Colonel Suggs to get some big hammers and begin smashing all the machinery in The Ardmoreite office," remarked a business man at the county court house this morning, and continuing, he gave as his reason the following: "I overheard a few red kumrids who were employed in their usual avocation of 'cussing the system' say this morning that they were going to quit reading The Ardmoreite if that paper did not let up on the kumrids in general, and the local humen in particular.

"Whenever the kumrids learn that it is better to secure a job, go to work, bathe regularly and become good citizens generally, than it is to sit around and agitate, they will better their condition generally, but until they learn this they have no kick coming when they get landed on."

Continuing further, this man stated that he has just returned from the western portion of the county, where the kumrids claim to be strongest, and he states that their strength is on the wane and predicts that less votes will be cast in the coming election that any election since statehood. A weak effort was made early after the recent primary to get the republicans and socialists to fuse, but the republicans would have none of it, so about the only place for the kumrids to affiliate now is with the independents, if the latter will tolerate them.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS.

A. C. Cruice is Entertaining Boyhood Kentucky Friend in Oil Fields.

A. C. Cruice and one of his old Kentucky friends, E. M. Rousseau arrived here yesterday from Oklahoma City and left today on a business trip to the oil fields where both of them have holdings. Mr. Cruice has recently returned from Manitou, Colo., and was favored with a visit from one of his best boyhood friends. Mr. Rousseau is now express agent at Somerset, Ky., and his looks betray the fine water and air of Kentucky. He does not appear ever to have been ill a day in his life and is the picture of the health of which Kentucky is famous.

That these men were close friends go without saying. It was a few years back that both of them were young men together, each wanted to go to school and they talked the matter over. A. C. had in some way managed to get a hold on about $600. He decided to go to Vanderbilt and to remain there as long as that sum would last. He told his friend Rousseau of what he had done and there was a pained expression mingled with delight on his face because he wanted to go himself. It was then that A. C. did the very thing that he has always done ever since—he divided the money and both went to school. They had to live pretty close to stay a year on that sum but they both stayed the entire year and had money enough left to buy a ticket home. The modern boy does not know how to do
